The manuscript page is a full-page illumination. It features a central column of five large, gold leaf illustrations depicting various scenes from the life of Christ and the Virgin Mary. The illustrations are framed by a decorative border of gold leaf and small figures. On either side of the central column are columns of Latin text in a Gothic script, with large, ornate initials in red and gold. The page is set against a light background with a decorative border of gold leaf and small figures.
